Lynnea Brumbaugh, Ph.D. is a senior lecturer at Washington University and the CEO of Quantum Empowerment Academy, a Transformational Program for High-Octane Leaders Focused on Human Excellence. Dr. Brumbaugh has decades of experience teaching management communication, leadership and teambuilding, science/ technical communications, and cyber diversity for algorithmic justice. She has degrees in literature and psychology, extensive training in organizational culture, and multiple certifications in eastern energy technologies and human consciousness.

She now implements these skills to create fast, dramatic shifts in her clients' abilities to focus on present-moment priorities with positive energy. Her proprietary quantum results framework supports her clients through focused energy flow, positive habit restructuring, and a proven blind spot unlocking system that reduces toxicity in the workplace and increases productivity without burnout.
